It is wonderful how the country has settled up, to be so far from railroad transportation. As soon as a road strikes us, land will go up to three times what is asked for it now.

HENRIETTA, April 10.—The Henrietta improvement company will soon commence work and sink an artesian well on the old public square on the north side of our city. It is their intention to go 2500 feet deep. Exxis, April 9.—The contract has been signed for electric lights, waterworks and ce factory, to be put in operation as soon as possible.

A stock company was yesterday organized with $10,000 capital to erect a handsome new opera house. The Knights of Pythias lodge have bought a nicely located lot, on which they contemplate erecting in the near future a handsome two-story brick building the upper story to be used as a lodge room and the lower as a business urse of construction. Timeson, April 8.—The new hotel will be completed at this place in a few days and will be opened up next week by Mrs. Smith in first-class style, which will add considerably to the looks and convenience of our already pretty little town.

Many handsome residences are in and is soon to have a bank. Postoffice now established.

TEXAN PRODUCTS.

Texas is the greatest pecan country in the world. Here the nuts grow larger and attain a sweeter flavor than in any other region. The trees are indigenous, growing to an enormous size along the streams and in the more fertile portion of the prairies. This year the nut will bring into the state not less than $250.000, yet only a small per cent of the entire crop will be marketed.

—[San Angelo Standard.

Millions of bushels are produced in the state annually but by far the largest por-tions are consumed by hogs or other ani-mals, or rot under the tress on which they grew. Ship loads leave the wharves at Nav Origin. New Orleans unassorted, crude and rustic, New Orleans unassorted, crude and rustic, fresh from the trees as they grow, to be floated to German, English, French, Spanish and Italian ports. The shrewd foreigners buy these valuable nuts at an average of $2 per bushel. They sort and polish them by machinery, sell the choice sizes at 40 and 50 cents per pound, and the smaller sizes are converted into oil or manufactured into confections. No Texas farm is complete without a pecan grove. It will require from eight to ten years for the trees to amply suffice for the trouble and delay.

—[Aransas Harbor Herald.

In this part of Texas the mulberry and osage orange grow in abundance. If the silk industry received proper attention here it would soon become a source of great profit, and help to make this country independent of foreign countries for become endent of foreign countries for a large part of the raw silk consumed. The women have taken great interest in the matter, be-cause sericulture is a work which women can do better than men. To them it offers another road to independence by healthful, pleasant and remunerative work. A La-dies' silk culture association in San Antonio might accomplish much good and they might accomplish much good, and they would be as much attitled to congressional appropriations as similar societies in other states. During the year 1889 the report of the secretary of agriculture shows that sixty-four lots of silk worm eggs were distributed in Texas, but with what result is not stated.—[San Antonio Times. Mr. F. A. Swinden of Brownwood who has 400 acres in a pecan orchard said: There is no surer way of making a fortune than to plant a pecan orchard and let the trees grow. A tree eight years old will produce a bushel of nuts, and these are worth from $2 to $4 per bushel, and when worth from $2 to $4 per bushel, and when the trees are fully grown, say from tweive to fifteen years old, it will bear about fourteen bushels of nuts. I think when my trees are eight years old my first crop of pecans will not be less than 11.000 bushels, and the cost of gathering will not exceed 10 cents per bushel. In the meantime while waiting for trees to mature, the land is not idle. I have a part of it in cotton and a part in alfalfa.

The P. C. C. country is pre-eminently the home of the pecan. The streams are bordered with thrifty pecan trees that yield an annual crop of great commercial value. Many families make more in thirty days gathering pecans than they could make in a year raising cotton in Mississimal or Georgia Reigner reco Mississippi or Georgia. Raising pecan orchards in this country is an industry that is destined to be more profitable than the orange groves of Florida or the vineyards of California. The trees will begin to bear at eight years old. The nuts are from two to four times as large as in other states and will always command the highest market price.—[Concho Herald.

TEXAS IMMIGRATION.

Dattas, April 10.-Much has been said through the press about the possibility of locating a colony of many thousands of Mennonites at some point in Texas. This sect are of about sixty thousand in number and are an honest, hard-working people. The greater number of them are yet in Russia, but large colonies have settled in the various states of the Union, principally in Nebraska, Kansas and Indiana. At Elkhart, Ind., there is a thriving colony.

people interested in the immigration move-ment of some of the far Western states to get this people and at present quite a war of ideas is being waged between the immigration agents of Texas and of other states. But as usual Texas has the lead, as she can offer a greater variety of soil, climate and health than any other state. During May an excursion party of about sixty representative Mennonites will visit Texas and look over the field and then report to their general head. An effort should be made to secure these people for Texas. Texas.
